Drink all the Whisky in the World...

Now that's a serious challenge. But not quite as reckless as it first appears. You see, the world in question is this strikingly handsome globe-shaped decanter. It's handblown from borosilicate glass, and includes a blown-glass ship in the centre. Easily removed for pouring and passing around (it's wonderfully satisfying to hold), the decanter has a glass ball stopper with an airtight seal - in case you don't finish the contents in one sitting. Presented in a smart gift box. Capacity 75cl.
